

UNIT 3 TEST

1 Complete the conversations with was, were, wasn't, or weren't.

1 Teacher you at home yesterday, Peter? You at school.

Peter I didn't come because I ill.

2 Sally The potatoes OK!

Sue Yes, they But the meat very nice!

MARK / 6

2 Write the past simple of the verbs.

Example

play played

- 1 visit
- 2 want
- 3 arrive
- 4 need
- 5 drive
- 6 read
- 7 get
- 8 fall

MARK / 8

3 Complete the sentences.

Example

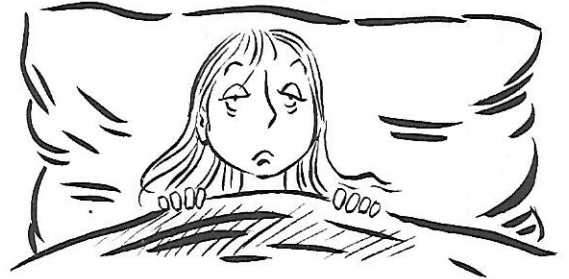

I wasn't in school yesterday because I was ill (il)

- 1 Aaachoo! Oh dear, I've got a (dolg).
- 2 Let me see ... 39.8. Yes, you've got a (rutemaperte).
- 3 I need a (stentid). I've got toothache.
- 4 Look at that big black (sruibe) on your leg. How did you get it?
- 5 I feel terrible. I think I've got (luf).
- 6 Mum doesn't want to listen to our music. She's got a (deacheah).

MARK / 6

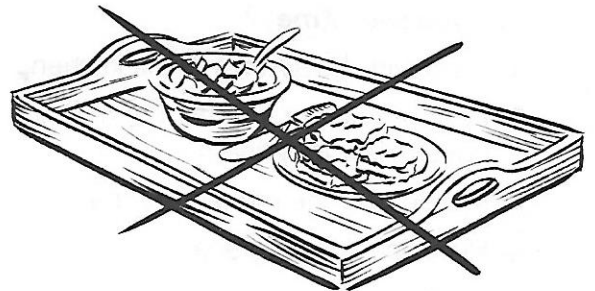

4 Jane didn't feel well yesterday. Complete the sentences with verbs in the past simple from the box.

give	have	listen	play
	stay	write

Example

She stayed in bed all morning.

1 She any breakfast.

2 Her mother her some medicine.

3 She to music in the afternoon.

- 4 She a letter to a friend.

- 5 She a game with her brother.

MARK / 5

5 Write the questions.

Example

I went to the dentist's yesterday. (Where)

Where did you go yesterday?

- 1 Cathy fell over and broke her arm. (How)

.....
.....

- 2 I had chicken for lunch today. (What)

.....
.....

- 3 Paul went to the dentist's yesterday. (Where)

.....
.....

- 4 The doctor came at six o'clock. (When)

.....
.....

- 5 We went to school on Saturday. (Why)

.....
.....

MARK / 5

6 Read the text and decide whether sentences 1–10 are true (T) or false (F).

Today a barber and a surgeon do very different jobs. A barber cuts people's hair and a surgeon is a doctor who works in a hospital. So, if you want a haircut, you go to the barber's, but if you break a leg, you need a surgeon!

But two hundred years ago things were different. A barber was the man with the knife – to cut beards and hair. But he was a surgeon, too. Sometimes he used his knife to cut arms and legs! Of course, there were no anaesthetics in those days, so it hurt a lot! Every barber's shop had a red and white sign outside, because red is the colour of blood.

About a hundred and fifty years ago things started to change. New hospitals opened, and surgeons worked there, with anaesthetics.

So barbers stopped cutting arms and legs. But you can still see the red and white sign outside some barbers' shops today.

- 1 A barber cuts hair.
- 2 A surgeon cuts hair.
- 3 Surgeons work in hospitals.
- 4 Two hundred years ago barbers were surgeons.
- 5 They worked with knives.
- 6 There was a red and white sign outside barbers' shops.
- 7 Barbers cut off peoples' heads.
- 8 Today things are different.
- 9 Surgeons today don't work with anaesthetics.
- 10 Today there aren't any barbers.

MARK / 10

TOTAL / 40